

BRITAIN SWINGS ECONOMY AXE TO SAVE MONEY

Seven-Month Coal Strike Forces Government into Difficult Position

London, Jan. 6.—The British Government is about to swing the "Economy Axe" in a way of which the ancient Viking never dreamed.

A seven months' disastrous coal strike is ended and now the bill has to be met. "How to meet it" is the question not only awaiting Winston Churchill as leader of the nation's purse, but every spending department of the government.

If it were merely a question of paying for the actual cost of the strike itself, the outlook would not be so serious. But its indirect effects have absolutely crippled British trade and industry and dried up all the usual fountains of revenue.

Four courses have already been decided upon by the government. Every spending department has been temporarily ordered to cut down its next year's estimates to the very bone, even at the risk of a loss of efficiency in some directions. In the second place the government has decided to avoid all fresh taxes on food, if possible. Thirdly, new taxation, direct and indirect on all luxuries—including beer and tobacco—is regarded as inevitable. Lastly, an increase in income tax, already strained almost to breaking point, is regarded as inevitable.

The government knows it is facing the gravest unpopularity. But it is in a difficult position, to take one tangible instance, the collection of income tax for the year is already $150,000,000 down. What the deficiency will be by the end of the financial year it is possible to state. But the indirect effects on other sources of revenue have not yet begun to come in.

A spotlight on the situation is shown in South Wales, where bookkeepers are occurring daily and hundreds of readers and professional men are being summoned in the courts daily for non-payment of municipal assessments and trading debts.

Premier Baldwin is determined to handle the situation much as he handled the funding of the British debt in America. He believes the situation must be retrieved at the earliest moment. Whatever the individual sacrifices through heavy taxation may be, and the government will act on these lines.

Reed Reported Scheduled to Succeed Judge Gary

"Dope" Is Political Rather Than Industrial; Senator 46 Years Old

By CHARLES P. STEWART
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Senator Reed Aiken Reed of Pennsylvania is reliably reported to be scheduled to succeed Judge L. H. Gary as head of the United States Steel Corporation.

"Reliable" reported is a most unusual expression, but this really is an inside tip.

It's political rather than industrial. The first hint was to the effect that Reed will resign from the senate before the end of his term, March 3, 1929.

Reed's "Why?" To step into Judge Gary's shoes. That's the dope, from a source mighty near the fountain head.

JUDGE GARY and the United States Steel Corporation have come to be almost synonymous terms, but the judge is very old. Unless he means to die in harness, he must retire soon.

It isn't good business to have the director of a billion dollar concern die on the job. It's financially disastrous.

Such changes need to be made in good order—not hurriedly, to meet an emergency.

UNDONES OPERATION
Miss Berline Glasner, 136 Homer-st., underwent an operation for appendicitis at City Hospital this morning.

IN CITY HOSPITAL

REPORTED IMPROVED
Miss Mary Ackerman, who has been ill of influenza at her home, Silver-st., was reported much improved today.

tion, it doesn't know it. Literally, as a trade.

"DAVE" REED has been a good senator.

He's highly intelligent. His ideals are high. And he has nerve. He's a conservative. With the so-called progressive group in the upper house of congress he has little in common. In some respects he'd like, quite frankly, to see governmental methods back up.

That's his honest. If he's for what others consider reaction, he says so straight out. When, now and then, his own party stands for what he thinks is wrong policy "regularity" doesn't prevent him from fighting it.

REED belongs to what is generally known as the "wild stocking" element in the senate.

It isn't altogether popular. Whether rightly or not, the hard boiled souls carry that the "wild stockings" look down on them. They resent it, and this resentment frequently crops out in debate.

All the same, Reed's respected by his fellow lawmakers as a man who, if he does deem himself an aristocrat, aims to live up to his notion of all that.

For that matter, Judge Gary never worked, physically, in a steel mill. He's a lawyer, too, and an executive and a financier.

Reed can qualify in all these respects, and he has a steel background, besides. The glare of the furnaces was in his eyes against the sky as he lay in his cradle, a baby. He knows the business, through a lifelong process of absorption.

Donahey Recommends Increased Revenues for State

EXCISE TAXES ARE URGED IN HIS ADDRESS

Accuses Legislators with Being Responsible for Deficit in Treasury

Indianapolis, Jan. 5.—Enactment legislation providing for increases in franchise taxes and for placing a tax on motor transportation operating as public utilities was urged by Gov. Vic Donahey.

In his initial message to the present Ohio legislature.

The message is on the order with the state and house clerks. The governor recommends these revenue increases be provided for in order to insure a "more fair and equitable distribution of the tax burden" in the Buckeye state.

The governor's message, the first of a series which he proposes to submit to the legislature within the next few weeks, deals with his views concerning contemplated legislation providing for "the proper regulation of public utilities rates and service" and for solution of "the problem of readjusting our system of revenues and expenditures on a fair and adequate basis."

Blames Legislators
Donahey charged legislators who served during recent sessions with being responsible for the deficit in the state treasury and asserted that it is the legislature's "task to correct the error."

"The fullest exchanges of advice and counsel," between the governor and legislators, "in the hope that our work may be founded on vision, patriotism and constructive statesmanship," was endorsed by the governor.

The senate was requested by Donahey to take prompt action, "either affirmatively, or negatively," relative to his appointment of three members of the state utilities commission, whose names will be sent to the senate for confirmation. The governor announced that, after consultation with the new commission, he proposes to submit concrete recommendations to the legislature dealing with "needed statutory changes in the methods of operation and procedure of the public utilities commission."

The governor stated that "State Auditor Joseph Tracy and Director of Finance W. E. Baker had informed him that unless receipts are increased in the near future there will be a deficit of approximately $1,000,000 in the state's general revenue fund at the end of the current fiscal biennium, June 30, next."

"Thereafter, the normal expenditures of the state government will exceed receipts of the state treasury, under existing revenue laws, about $8,000,000 annually," Donahey told the legislators.

Despite the repeal of direct state taxes by the Ohio legislature in 1923, thereby reducing the state's revenues more than $10,000,000 a year, the governor declared "the treasury would not have been embarrassed if the legislature had not subsequently made appropriations for expenditures in excess of the anticipated income of the treasury, including the appropriation of some $4,500,000 over the veto, and then reduced corporation franchise taxes several million dollars a year."

"This information is of value in oyster culture, as it determines where the spawning beds should be established in relation to the areas and are planted with oyster shells for attachment of the larval oyster. The final resting place of the free swimming oyster larvae is determined to a considerable extent by the movement of tides and currents over the oyster beds."

It will always be disputed whether it is an advantage or not to have a friend so belovedly intimate that he won't let you have any others.

"Second—The raising of additional revenues to meet the present and ever-growing activities of the state government."

Submits Table
The governor urged the legislators not to "take a backward step in the important services for which most of the state funds are expended."

He submitted a table of proposed increases in excise and franchise taxes estimated to raise $10,750,525 additional revenue for the state annually.

Of this amount $9,000,000 was the increase anticipated each year if the legislature will raise the domestic corporation fee on outstanding capital, as provided for in the Dempsey act to 1-3 of one per cent. The present is 1-12 of one per cent.

Governor Donahey announced his intention of transmitting to the legislature soon the executive budget proposing expenditures totaling approximately $56,000,000 for state governmental activities during the 19 months ending Dec. 31, 1928, the budget being passed on the assumption that the legislators will provide for additional indirect taxes as suggested by the governor.

"If you do not increase revenues, the budget must be cut about 20 per cent in order to keep appropriations within anticipated revenues," said the governor. "In any event, I trust you will not make appropriations in excess of the anticipated receipts of the treasury as did the 80th general assembly," the governor's message reads.

GOVERNMENT STUDIES
L. I. SOUND OYSTERS
New York, Jan. 6.—An exhaustive study of tides and currents of Long Island sound in the interests of oyster culture is being conducted by the United States Bureau of Fisheries.

More than 200 drift bottles which were set afloat with dyes attached off Stratford Point and Millford, Conn., have been recaptured and their courses plotted on a chart of Long Island Sound.

"A study of the chart indicates that the general trend of the current along the Connecticut coast is eastward and shoreward," the report said.

"For example, bottles released in the mouth of the Housatonic river, and between Stratford Point and Middle Ground light, moved steadily eastward and were picked up on the beaches from Stratford to New London. Likewise bottles released off Charles Island and Welch's point soon were recovered along the shore between these places and New Haven harbor."

"This information is of value in oyster culture, as it determines where the spawning beds should be established in relation to the areas and are planted with oyster shells for attachment of the larval oyster. The final resting place of the free swimming oyster larvae is determined to a considerable extent by the movement of tides and currents over the oyster beds."

CHICAGO PLANS TO STAMP OUT BEER GANG MEN

Lager Pirates Figure as Issue in City Campaign as Drive Starts

Chicago, Jan. 6.—The stage is being set for a new drive to stamp out the practical beer gangs, whose form of ruthless "justice" annually takes a toll of lives running well over 100.

At least one mayoralty candidate will be running on an out and out "reform" platform, it is indicated, while a determined movement was under way to have the state legislature stop many of the legal loopholes through which wealthy gangster clients.

Although Chicago is openly and unflinchingly "wet," the growing seriousness of the problem of bringing these gangsters to justice is causing concern to many reputable citizens who in times gone by regarded beer runners.

A series of recent acquittals brought the problem squarely to the forefront and threatened to make the stamping out of the gangs a political issue.

In one case a jury acquitted a notorious gangster despite evidence of two policemen who saw him empty his auto into a rival beer runner.

The state's attorney had what he thought was a clear-cut "bragging" case in this instance. Charges were opened up when the verdict of acquittal was returned that members of the jury feared they would be shot down if they voted guilty.

For Quick Punishment
The most frequently discussed proposal was a law patterned after the Thoms act of New York, under which offenders are given short shrift when they reach the courts.

Such a state law, bolstered by an enlarged police force and some "hard boiled" juries would go a long way toward keeping the gangs in check, it was believed today.

While much of the gang shooting is confined to gangland itself, many innocent bystanders have been killed and wounded by stray bullets.

The only real solution of the problem in the belief of prohibitionists would be for the average citizen to stop buying beer, thus cutting off the gangsters' revenue.

SENATORS ARE IN VERITABLE PROTEST STORM

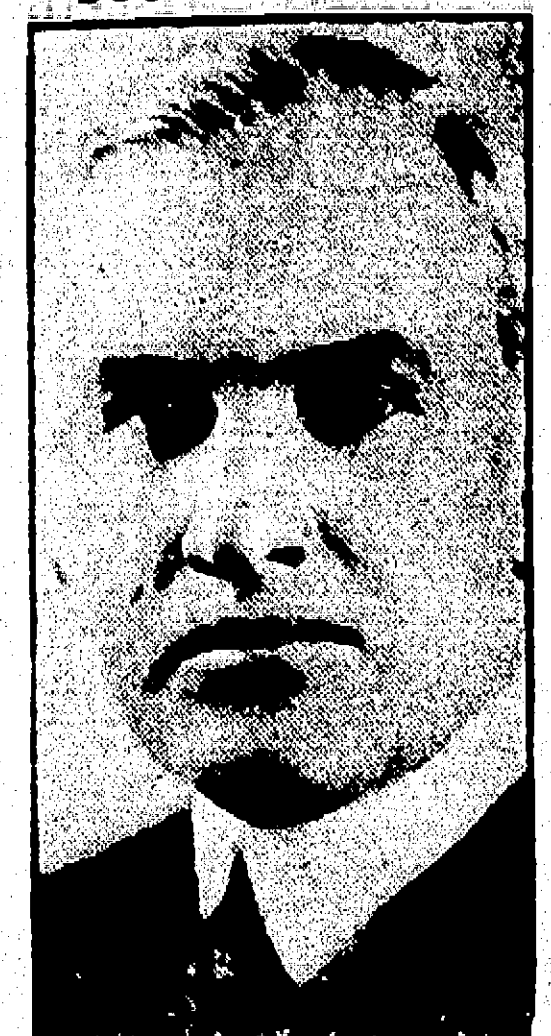

Kellogg Facing Strong Opposition in Explanation of Department's Policy

Washington, Jan. 6.—More warships and airplanes were ordered rushed today to Nicaragua to reinforce the American policy that has occupied most of the country's principal ports and the minds of the liberal revolutionists.

The protest of the State Department's policy was expressed by the dispatch of a fleet of 100 warships, 400 marines, and 100 additional cruisers, the largest naval force since the Spanish-American war, to the Nicaraguan waters.

"This is nothing more or less than an intervention to save the crumbling Diaz regime."

"The wabbling policy of Secretary Kellogg and his attempts to deceive the public on this question have shown him to be entirely incompetent for the position he holds."

"There appeared considerable democratic backing of Wheeler's position. If the democrats back his resolution for withdrawal of the marines, it might be enough to bring down the Diaz regime."

"The embargo should be restored," said Senator Copeland, democrat, of New York.

"The United States should not be put in the position of encouraging war in a friendly state."

"It is an act of war," said Senator Norris, the insurgent leader, referring to the lifting of the embargo.

Man is Never Too Old Nor Too Young To Learn, O. S. U. Freshman Figures Show

COLUMBUS, Jan. 6.—The truth of the old saw that man is never too old to learn—nor too young—is exemplified by the freshman class at Ohio State University.

Freshmen as young as 15 and more than 50 years old have entered the university in the last three years, a report prepared by Miss Edith Cockins, registrar, showed today.

Average age of the present freshman class, numbering more than 3,000 students, is approximately 19 years, four months, the survey made by Miss Cockins disclosed. The age of 18, however, continues after many years to be the most popular for entering students.

Women Younger

Women students, however, average about five months younger than do the men. The average for freshman men is approximately 19 years, five months, and that for women is a shade less than 19 years.

Eighty-four members of the present freshman class are more than 25 years of age. Six, on the other hand—four men and two girls—were only 15 when they entered the university last fall.

Oldest student to be enrolled in the university in the last decade or so was a woman of 70. The oldest man to be registered in recent years was 65.

One freshman two years ago entered the university at the age of 50. The oldest new student a year ago was 35.

The largest single group of freshman confesses to 18 years, approximately 28 per cent of the men and 35 per cent of the women falling in this class.

Average Age Greater

Average age of freshmen in law and medicine, however, is greater because of the requirements for preliminary college study for admission to these colleges. The fledgling lawyers average 22 years, one month, and the embryo doctors 23 years, seven months.

Nearly twice as many co-eds, proportionately, as men enter the university less than 18 years of age. Ten per cent of the men are 17 years or less as freshmen, while 18 per cent of the women are admitted at those ages.

Of the 84 students more than 25 years of age in the current freshman class, 32 are men and 52 are women.

Two of the freshmen only 15 years of age are in the college of arts, philosophy and science; two in the college of commerce and journalism, and one each in education and engineering.

Youngest freshman in the college of law is 19 and the most youthful member of the entering medical class is 20.

PAST PRESIDENT ADDRESSES F. O. E. AT MEETING HERE

Judge Martin L. Sweeney, past president, representing the state as a delegate to the National Order of Eagles, addressed the F. O. E. at a meeting here last night. The meeting was well attended and plans were made to initiate the first of the classes to enter the lodge this year, next Wednesday night in honor of James A. Smith, president. The next large class following this initiation will be Feb. 23.

The meeting was followed by a luncheon at which Judge Sweeney spoke on "The Good of the Order," in which he told of the beneficial features of the lodge.

LEOPOLD TAKES WITNESS STAND AGAIN TODAY

Confessed Slaying of Bobby Franks Denies Connection in Mutilation of Youth

Jan. 6.—Nathan P. Leopold, Jr., serving a life sentence for slaying Bobby Franks, took the witness stand once more today. This time to deny he knew anything about the mutilation of a taxicab driver.

The grim solemnity which characterized the sensational trial of Leopold and Richard Loeb for the Franks murder, was absent from the civil suit through which Ream hoped to collect $100,000 damages from the young "thrill slayers."

The suit was due to go to the jury late today, following what promised to be a keen battle of wits between the youthful inmates of the state penitentiary and David K. Four, veteran trial attorney, representing Charles Ream, former Kenton, Ohio, taxicab driver.

By a peculiar turn in the testimony of Babe Leopold, the defense may rest its case on an alibi. If the alibi stands, Leopold, at least, could not have been a party to the mutilation of young Ream, early on the morning of Nov. 20, 1923.

Pineville, Ky., Jan. 6.—Five constables were under indictment here today for slaying of Dr. R. L. Lattimore, aged physician at Blanche near here, on Christmas day.

A special grand jury yesterday returned murder indictment against Robert Smith, Gustave Smith, Daniel Smith, Frank Newman and Zinn Girmann, all constables.

At the time of the murder county officials declared that it was the most atrocious crime in the bloody history of this portion of the state. Dr. Lattimore was shot down according to eyewitnesses, when he asked his arrest on a minor charge he deferred until he finished his Christmas dinner.

BANK NEAR LIMA IS CLOSED BY EXAMINER

Columbus, Jan. 6.—The Farmers and Merchants Bank at Beaverdam near Lima, remained closed today, according to State Bank Examiner H. E. Scott.

Proven assets, as advanced by Scott as the reason for closing the bank's doors.

According to investigators' reports to Scott, the bank some time ago loaned $20,000 to a local concern, accepting New York drafts as security. Payment on the drafts could not be negotiated, Scott said, and because the sum represented a great part of the bank's assets, the institution was placed in custody of Bank Inspector H. E. Smith.

RAPS VOLSTEAD ACT

Gen. Smedley D. Butler Says There's Plenty of Liquor for "Upper Crust"

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 6.—The silliest piece of class legislation that has ever been passed, was the latest appellation hurled at the Volstead act. It came from the lips of Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who departed from an address before the Lions Club here on the subject of the maximum grain for the sale, enough to pay his respects to the act.

"There is plenty of liquor to supply the demand for vice and corruption in the upper crust," General Butler declared for his part in the "cocktail" presentation of Col. Alexander Williams, declared "that the poor man is left with nothing."

Now if somebody would only invent a law for the prohibition of the poor man's drink.

COBB, SPEAKER TO ASK NAMES CLEARED

Cleveland, Jan. 6.—Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, through their attorneys, will ask Judge Landis Saturday to clear their names of the slurs caused when Hubert "Dutch" Leonard recently charged that the two former baseball pilots had participated in a crooked game.

William H. Boyd, counsel for Speaker, declared today that he and James O. Murfin, of Detroit, representing Cobb, had an appointment to meet the commissioner in Chicago at which time the entire affair would be "threwed out and organized baseball given a chance to solve the two men without resorting to legal action."

Boyd said that he did not mean that an ultimatum would be served on Landis and yet he implied that the possibility of legal action will remain unless Speaker and Cobb are given a clean bill.

Speaker has not yet decided whether he will appear at the conference. Cobb is in Chicago.

DR. STENGEL TAKES UP DUTIES OF KIWANIANS

A. L. Kette Steps Out of Presidency of Luncheon Club

Changing offices and outlining plans for the coming year was the program at the meeting of the Marion Kiwanis Club at Hotel Harding Thursday noon.

A. W. Kette stepped out after a year's service as president of the Kiwanis Club, and Dr. F. A. Stengel took up the gavel. The "changing of the guard" was a large, green and pink covered affair, was brought in by Dr. Stengel, who was seated on it. Kette also drew a "throne," but it was a miniature, useful only as a memento of his year of service at the head of the club.

Thomas T. Coulter took his job as secretary of the Kiwanis Club, and John J. Howe as treasurer. The secretary-treasurer office has been split up, until this year having been a combination office. C. Z. Zachman is vice president of the club.

Under the program of activities the club voted its approval of continuation of the program of its many activities, continuation of the athletic program, and of inter-city meetings, as well as the usual social activities which the Kiwanians carry on during the year.

In leaving office, retiring President Kette spoke his appreciation of the service of the members during the year, and called on them to support with equal enthusiasm the administration of President Stengel.

DEATH TOLL IN RUSSIA FROM STORMS IS 150

Great Damage Done Throughout Caucasus and Along Black Sea

Moscow, Jan. 6.—The death toll in the storms which have swept Russia during the last two days has now reached 150.

The storms, which have been of hurricane force, have done great damage throughout the Caucasus and along the Black Sea.

After a week's sweep out into the Black Sea with their crews are believed to have been sunk with a loss of 50 lives. The sailing vessel Contingency has been definitely reported lost with a crew of 11 and two steamers are reported sunk off Kutchik. One ship with a crew of six sank at the entrance of the Baku harbor.

In the Baku oil fields, more than 300 derricks have been blown down, 1900 workmen killed and several millions of dollars of damage done.

Thousands of Armenians, who were left homeless by the earthquakes in the vicinity of Leningrad, are reported to be suffering great privation and many have frozen to death, according to reports received here.

In Tiflis, the snow has reached an unprecedented depth of six feet, causing great suffering and damage to fruit orchards which have been destroyed. The weather it has known for 50 years and the fruit orchards there have also been blasted.

Twenty-two miners were killed at Necessible when an avalanche of snow swept down the mountainside and buried their barracks.

Seek House-Cleaning in Jersey.
 The attorneys of Jersey City have met and passed a resolution asking that the State Bar Association of New Jersey take such action as will serve to maintain the honor and dignity of the law. The resolution is not the result of the Hall-Mills trial exclusively. It is possible, but it is manifest that that trial was the final assault upon the orderly and dignified practice of the law which caused the Jersey City lawyers to get together and take the action they did.

While there is an implication that the court in that case was lamentably lax and irregular in admitting the presentation of evidence which was questionable, to say the least, and in permitting the prosecution to go to the lengths it did, both in its vindictiveness and its low vaudeville methods, it is apparent that the burden of the resolution is directed toward prompting the state association to investigate the circumstances leading up to the indictment and surrounding the trial of persons against whom only the flimsiest evidence could be offered.

The Jersey City attorneys have done well to take the action they have. That the courts are to be utilized as circulation builders for sensational, scandal-mongering papers is unthinkable, and the sooner the state of New Jersey places herself on record as against outrages upon law, the defendants in the trial, the people of Somerset county and the public generally such as were perpetrated in the Hall-Mills trial, the better it will be for her and for the cause of right and justice everywhere.

Happily, the volume of contempt aroused in this particular New Jersey case will probably stop any publication from attempting to repeat the performance of the New York tabloid which resurrected the Hall-Mills case after a lapse of four years.

For the Good of the Game.

No matter what may be the outcome of the present charges of baseball crookedness, enough has been developed in the past to establish beyond all doubt that professional baseball is not the clean sport it should be. We have sometimes thought that the general public's conception of professional baseball as a sport is responsible for many of the ills from which the professional game has suffered. The day is past when we can rely upon professional baseball as a sport. As a matter of fact, it is a sport. It is a business, and the game fauna come to a realization of this fact, the better it will be for the game. To exact the full business, like any other business which is to endure, must be kept clean and above suspicion, and it can not be kept clean and above suspicion if hero worship is permitted to stop the cleansing of the game.

The charges against Cobb, Speaker and others may appear far-fetched to many, but they have been made, and they should be sustained or made to fall. The more fact that some of the players against whom charges are made are old-time favorites with baseball fans may cause justice to be done to the uttermost that such favorites may clear themselves of the charges if they are innocent, but it should not be permitted to bar just punishment if they are guilty.

Let it not be assumed that we hold that the fans who pay their admissions to the games are the only ones who look upon ball as a sport rather than a business. The newspapers of the country make the same mistake. They treat professional baseball—just as they do the fighting game, the wrestling game, horse racing, swimming, tennis, golf—as a sport, and have given untold millions of dollars' worth of space to it. The result has been that all such professional sports have been highly commercialized at comparatively little expense to those behind them. Money has come to the management through this free publicity as it never would have come in any other way. The players have sought a share of the good thing. Some of them receive fabulous salaries. We have in mind one who draws $52,000 for six months' work—about $560 for three hours' time and work combined a day. Players less fortunate are out after the coin. The money bug becomes active. One way to it is through the championship series, and most of the scandals of baseball have resulted from the throwing of games looking to the division of the players' end of the world series. It may be that games have been thrown for other reasons than money. As one player has stated, certain games may have been thrown because the players throwing it could not help their own position, but could help the position of some other team and did so because of their liking for it or their dislike of the team with which the favored team was a contender. That may be friendship; that may be human nature, but it is not sport, and the fans seeking sport are cheated when resort to such practices is made.

Britishers are said to be carrying snuff boxes on their hips. Over here the people are carrying on their hips the stuff that snuffs 'em out. We do not think much of the showing made by the American Society of Aviation, that only eight air pilots lost their lives last year while eighty persons were killed to death by mules. To prove the aeroplane less dangerous than the mule. In the first place, there are more mules in use in Missouri alone than the total of all the planes in the western hemisphere, and, secondly, very few people of the mentality of those who take chances with mules are engaged in aviation.

Before you kissed me, only winds of heaven had kissed me, and the tenderness of rain— Now you have come, how can I care for kisses— Like theirs again.

I sought the sea, she sent her winds to meet me. They surged about me, singing of the South— I turned my head away to keep still hold— Your kiss upon my mouth.

And swift, sweet rains of shining April weather Poured not my lips where living kisses are; I loved my head held they put out my glory. As rain puts out a star.

I am my love's, and he is mine forever. Sealed with a seal and said forevermore— Think you that I could bear a better lover Where a king stood before?

ANOTHER SKELETON IN OUR CLOSET.

Rotation in Colors Tried in Cereals.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A nice little boy, two and a quarter years old, came to visit me at the farm. I was interested in his eating. He would take no more food. But he was well nourished and appeared to get from milk and vegetables all the protein food he needed. The mother was an interesting woman with many splendid ideas about how children should be fed. She presented a new thought about cereals.

This good lady thinks a child should have variety. Monotony, even in color, she says, has a bad psychological effect. Then it was mentioned cereals. Seven cereals have been selected, one for each day of the week. Four of them are brown, and the others are white. She rotates these foods—brown, white, brown, yellow, brown, white, brown, and so on.

There can be no doubt it is a good thing to have the child interested in his food. To hold his interest there must be some novelty attaching to it. I have no doubt the color scheme here outlined has real value.

Children are much more temperamental than grown-ups. You know how sick and tired we get if the same kind of food is placed before us meal after meal, day after day. If that is hard for us, it is even worse for a baby or young child.

It takes brains, energy, imagination and diligence to be a good mother. Sacrifice marks every single day of her life, at least during the growing period of her child. Upon her good sense depends the immediate health, the physical development, and the length of days of the young life entrusted to her care.

No mother can accept and blindly follow the practices of other mothers. Every child presents an individual problem. She must work this out for herself. This is one of her mother-worries.

However, there are some accepted conclusions, what may be called the "eternal verities." Among them is the fact that monotony is deadly. There must be variety in exercise, in surroundings, in foods.

Within certain limits there must be variety in the flavorings, methods of preparation, and color of the foods given to the young child. What our friend worked out as regards cereals for her little boy may be applied to other dishes. It will help the appetite to please the curiosity.

His advice is not bad either in planning the meals for the family. Variety is indeed the spice of life.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. K. Q.—What is the cause of the skin becoming dark around the mouth?

A.—If this is a passing condition it is probably due to biliousness. For further information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

One thing that makes prize fighting a great game is that you never can tell what is going to happen. Oh, my, you may think you can. Well, that makes it all the more interesting. All kinds of things happen to change the result, even before the result happens, and after it happens, why everybody wants it changed, whether he paid for his ticket or not.

Somebody told me about a fight where the referee got sick just before the two guys went on, and a young fellow that was a sporting editor for a newspaper was grabbed for the referee job. He admitted he didn't know anything about prize fighting, but the managers told him he'd have to look wise and go through with it. The crowd was all tuned up and yelling for action, and the match was overdone already when the young guy—he was all white and scared to death—says to the fellow that was putting the fight on:

"But what if I make a wrong decision? Is there anybody to tell me?"

"Why, yes," says the impresario, "we have a doctor here, and he'll tell you as soon as you wake up!"—Copyright, 1927.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. Do the Class 1 railroads own any of the Pullmans in use on their lines? E. J. D.

A. They own 408. The Pullman company maintains 1,435 Pullman cars.

Q. What measurements are taken for Bertillon record? E. D.

A. The Bertillon system consists of simple and exact measurements of certain parts of the body. The measurements are taken with calipers and include the head, standing and sitting; reach of outstretched arms; length and width of head; length and width of right ear; and the length of the left foot, forearm; middle and little fingers.

Q. How many children in the United States come before the juvenile courts each year? R. S.

A. The children's bureau says that approximately 200,000—dependent, neglected and delinquent—appear before juvenile courts each year.

Q. Is Fritz Kreisler married? R. T.

A. His marriage to Harriet, daughter of George P. Bliss, took place in New York City in 1902.

Q. What is the derivation of the word, cafeteria? C. M.

A. Its formation is obscure. It comes from the same root as the French word cafe, which means coffee, but is used to mean restaurant. The Italian word caffetteria is applied to a coffee pot, a coffee shop or the proprietor of such a shop. The form cafeteria was first applied to a

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—This afternoon I tracked out to a movie studio to watch a movie which put the well-known sin in cinema. My clothes may be shabby, but at least they are my own idea. Consequently in crossing the lot I was rather embarrassing to bear a lady among a group of visitors inquire of an attendant: "What does his costume represent?"

I felt very much like one of those dignified chairmen of the board must feel when the prosecutor is reading his coterie-tooter letters to twelve perfect strangers.

Another extremely embarrassing moment was mine in the breakfast room of what Michael Arlen calls a hotel. I sat opposite a crisp gentleman who had evidently gulped a cork clam the night before. He rustled his morning paper meekly.

"Pleasant morning!" I ventured. "I'm that way—always merry and bright. He nodded curtly. A silence and again disregarding Aunt Let's advice never to speak to strangers in a big city: "Big blizzard back East." You can usually interest a Californian in an eastern blizzard. A cold look.

Then I reached for a piece of toast and plop went the contents of the cream pitcher into his lap. He looked at me and gave one of those laughs where the face doesn't change, expression. You know the sort. The villain laughs that way just before he plunges the dagger through the hero's—wait a minute. Acroph the dictionary. O, here it is in the vocabulary.

The way I walked away from that table, looking neither to the right or left, is nobody's business.

The silver dollar is almost extinct back East. I never saw one during my time in New York. Perhaps it is because you can't wrap them around a roll of plain paper and impress head waiters. There is something substantial and beautiful about them and a cheery sound to their ring. They are not in profusion out here, but now and then you receive them in change.

California offers a variety of weather. It is not all sunshine. Tonight for instance a heavy fog came up. To watch a great city arise from a bath of fog in gleaming dog-tooth outline is an inspiring sight.

There are golden tales of writers, obscure and great, being greeted with mammoth offers to write for the movies a half hour after they reach Los Angeles. Many drift out here expecting this splendid. So far I have received one offer which was a slight insult to what I wistfully term by intelligence. The star writers of the studios are those who have been hand-picked and especially-trained for the intricacies of the job. Most of the untrained boys from New York who scoffed at movies, but accepted their money were devastating flops.

One notices a briskness about Los Angeles newsmen. Many have a well-dressed collegiate look. They are agreeably pleasant despite the fact they seem to yell louder than any place in the world. I saw one the other evening dressed as I never saw a newsie dressed before. He wore a dinner jacket and starched shirt and collar.

Pershing square is the Bryant park of the city. It is a beautifully kept mid-town breathing space, but many of its benches are filled with drinking malcontents that are added to every city. They have come here looking for work they hope they will never find and take through the sunny days berating the government and capitalistic power. There are women real estate "cappers" who infest public parks suggesting drives to this new addition or that—not to sell, of course, but merely as good Samaritans. Outside of this (three seems to be little soliciting among strangers for real estate purchases.—Copyright, 1927.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON

"Blessings on thee, little man, barefoot boy with cheek of tan. With thy turned-up pantaloons And thy merry whistled tunes. With thy red lips—redder still. Kissed by strawberries on the hill; With the sunshine on thy face. Through thy torn brim's jaunty grace— From my heart I give thee joy! I was once a barefoot boy!"

Who does not remember this poem in the school books of another day? In a state hospital in a Massachusetts town, worn out, old and ill, lies Frank Marston. In his boyhood he was the model who gave to the good, gray poet, Whitman the idea for the poem. He is a link with the past.

Barefoot boys with cheeks of tan do not know how happy they are all through their long summer afternoons. Neither do any of us. The best time of life is now if we but know how to adjust ourselves to it. All periods of life have their compensations. All are good if we know how to use them.

Note the principles of behavior laid down for the Japanese people by the new emperor. They do well for all nations at all times:

1. Simplicity, instead of vain display.
2. Originality, instead of blind imitation.
3. Progress, in view of this period of civilization.
4. Improvement, to keep up with advancing civilization.
5. Harmony in purpose.
6. Benevolence to all classes of people.
7. Friendship to all nations of the earth.

The refusal of people to face facts is filling the insane asylums. To enjoy life, shame and fear must be kept out of the mind. Shame and fear destroy mind and body. George Dorrer, who wrote a great book called "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," says:

"Science can not prove that man or animal ever died a natural death. A process of waste is constantly balanced by a process of rebuilding, and continued life depends on a happy medium between the two processes."

"If science could tell us as much about the food we eat and the tearing down and building up of our bodies as it has about our automobiles, we would almost automatically lengthen the span of life."

There could be no finer message for the beginning of a year than that sent out by the president of the United States to the million and a quarter boy scouts in America. The president said:

"We get happiness from doing our duty. Further happiness from doing a little more than is necessary, and from doing things as near right as we can. Our communities and our country are better because of what you boys and girls are, what you do, and what you mean to our social and economic life as the men and women of the future."

Dinner Stories.

"Do you understand Einstein's theory?" "Not fully," admitted the professor.

"Then why do you admire him so much?" "Because he's one man who has backed a lot of us college boys down and made us admit he knew more than we do."

The tourist from the East had stopped to change tires in a desolate region of the far South.

"I suppose," he remarked to a native on-looker, "that even in these isolated parts the bare necessities of life have risen tremendously in price?"

"Yer right, stranger," replied the native, "and it ain't worth drinkin' when ye get it."

"Parson," exclaimed Ephraim, "the pit 'ligion, I tell you."

"That's fine, brother: You are going to lay aside all sin?"

"Yes, euh."

"You're going to church?"

"Yes, surree."

"You're going to care for the widows?"

"Sho' am!"

"Are you going to pay your debts?"

"Sho'! Dat ain't 'ligion. Dat's business."

ANNUAL RABBIT DINNER GIVEN BY FIREMEN

Grant E. Mouser, Jr., Presented with Traveling Bag by City Officials

The annual family got together for the annual rabbit dinner given by the firemen. The event, which is attended by the heads and members of every city department, was combined with the farewells to the city officials to Grant E. Mouser, Jr., who has resigned as city solicitor to become special counsel in the office of the state attorney general. Mr. Mouser was accompanied by his wife and two children. The dinner was given at the home of Mr. Mouser, who is now in the city of St. Louis, Mo., where he is employed as a traveling salesman. The dinner was a very successful one and the firemen were very happy to see Mr. Mouser and his family. The firemen also presented Mr. Mouser with a traveling bag as a token of their appreciation for his services to the city.

Recalls History
R. E. Pottman, chairman of the board of firemen, said that the dinner was first given in 1890. It has since become a tradition and is now one of the most popular events of the year. The dinner is given to the firemen and their families and is a very important part of their lives. The firemen are very proud of their dinner and are very happy to see Mr. Mouser and his family.

London Seeks Remedy for Traffic Accidents
London, Jan. 6.—The very high death toll in the traffic accidents in London during the first nine months of last year, the various authorities of the city are now seeking a remedy. The death toll was 1,100, which is a record for the city. The authorities are now looking for ways to reduce the death toll and are very concerned about the situation. They are looking for ways to improve the roads and to make the traffic safer. They are also looking for ways to educate the public about the dangers of traffic accidents.

"Kit" Carson Really Loved Indians, Niece Declares

A portrait of Kit Carson by Will Cassidy, member of the Taos, N. M., art society. Inset, monument at Kit Carson's grave.

Christopher "Kit" Carson was born in Kentucky, Dec. 24, 1809. When he was but an infant his parents emigrated to Howard county, Missouri, then a wilderness. Fond of the outdoors, "Kit" became the most expert shot in the entire settlement when he was only 15 years old. His father apprenticed him as a trader but lured by the tales of the western prairies and mountains he joined a trade caravan to the Rockies where his colorful career among the Indians began. He died in 1868 at Fort Lyon on the Arkansas river, his remains later being taken to Taos, N. M., a former home.

TAOS, N. M., Jan. 6.—Kit Carson, (fashioned plainsman's dinner: roast Indian killer, trail blazer, desert guide and pioneer, still lives in the memory of old settlers at Taos, home of the great adventurer, where he died May 20, 1868, aged 59.

The Rio del Norte runs its riotous course, Taos Canyon gates abruptly deep, Taos Peak rises a good thousand feet above the surrounding mesas, blanket-garbed Indians stroll around the village streets, cattle herds and sheep herders lounge about the adobe home of the great Kit, a structure now used to house a desert restaurant. And down a Mesquite-grown Carson family country there stands a rough slab of granite in memory of General Kit Carson, "greatest of American pioneers."

But the old-timers of Taos do not remember Carson as a general. They recall him, rather, as a charitable neighbor, an amiable conversationalist, a quiet old gentleman who hated killings and loved Indians.

They point out the long angular adobe house which Kit built, and tell how "Old Kit" gave quarters and hospitality to more desert tramps, and "down-and-outers" and sick Indians, and homeless Mexicans than any other citizen of Taos, ever had done.

They remember Kit Carson as a man who would share his last half-dollar with a Mexican tramp, as a man who was too modest to wear his eagles after he had been officially commissioned as a major-general in the United States army—and not by "hang, bang, bang," went Kit's rifle and three more redskins hit the dust.

"The woman who knows more about Kit Carson than any one else in the United States" is a resident of Taos. She is Miss Lena Scheurich, niece of Christopher "Kit" Carson, and granddaughter of Charles Bent, the first territorial governor of New Mexico. Miss Scheurich's mother was adopted and reared by Kit Carson and Miss Scheurich knew him intimately, both personally and from hearsay.

Miss Scheurich lives alone in a quiet little adobe residence, which was built for her by this same Kit Carson. She knows and loves her over-sized rats and talks with little Indians who come strolling over to look at her many quaint pictures and to sample the interesting candies which she concocts. She talks and dreams of the splendid past.

"Christopher Carson was a great Indian diplomat," she relates. "He loved Indians, he saved hundreds of them from being killed by his skillful compromise. He was loved by the Indians. He visited and was received cordially by every village of the Pueblo nation."

"It was against his will that he took part in the Navajo Subjugation in 1867. He did what he thought was his duty, and it was in this battle that he received an internal injury which wrecked his health and later resulted in his death."

Story of Death

"A kinder, nobler man never lived. His neighbors here in Taos loved him, and they still revere his memory."

"I'll never forget Uncle Kit's death. He had been in poor health ever since he received his wound and shortly he developed a chronic throat trouble."

"One day he called over Governor Bent. The two talked over old times and during adventures, and finally Uncle Kit said that he wanted to do one thing more than anything else in the world—that was to eat an old."

QUIT GETTING UP NIGHTS

A Healthy Bladder Acts During the Day

C. N. Shuman, Republican Ohio, says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) had to get up six or seven times each night. Now I do not get up at all. You may wonder why I have it. I would benefit anyone with bladder trouble." Be careful not to take drugs that check the action of the bladder. You may have to continue its use. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) increases the action during the day. It cleanses the bladder as you take it. It drives out the acids, the toxins, the irritating matter, the bacteria, the irritants which cause "Getting Up Nights." The tablets run so much as an acid stool or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Pa. Locally at Carl G. Ungewitter, druggist, Adm.

error Bent granted his wish and they ate like kings, and talked of old times. Finally Uncle Kit said he wanted to smoke his old corncob pipe. He did, and they talked and talked until finally Uncle Kit became drowsy, leaned forward, and died—like a little child going to sleep."

Quexter, the narrator of the tale, is an American employed by the American Overseas bank in Geneva. He starts for Geneva to see the workings of the League of Nations, stopping at Dijon between times. He is greeted by a small, unassuming looking American who asks to share his room, stating that he is a schoolmaster. As the two lunch at the inn their attraction is attracted by two people, a stout, flashy dressed man and a young and attractive woman.

The "schoolmaster" seems nervous, fidgeting about the locks and windows of their room and hesitating on leaving the lights burning all night. Quexter discovers that the story he had told about being a schoolmaster was a story, and that the man is next morning the school master is gone through the window evidently, as the door is locked on the inside.

Arrived in Geneva, Quexter visits the League of Nations headquarters, learning of the League's operations into the optimum trust.

He did not reply immediately, but looked at me in an odd manner, turning his head on one side, in order to bring his uninjured eye to bear. He squinted horribly, and in a tight-fitting blue suit, with the small diamond pin glittering in his tie, he was far from an engaging spectacle.

I watched him narrowly and soon noticed that he was nervous. There were small beads of sweat on his forehead, and his left hand played with the binding on the arm of his chair.

I waited for him in silence, but in English, though with a marked foreign accent: "It's a fine day, is it not, Monsieur?"

"A very fine day for the time of year," he went on. "Monsieur, excuse me."

"No," I replied.

"Monsieur has never been here before?"

"No."

"Monsieur comes from the United States, perhaps?"

This persistent questioning annoyed me, especially as I had taken a strong dislike to the man.

"Perhaps," I said shortly. "Why do you ask me these questions?"

He turned his head sideways, so as to fix me with the other eye. He was really a most unpleasant creature.

"Excuse me," he said, "but you received a bunch of flowers last night."

"Yes," I said shortly. "I remember them."

"There were only one bunch of white carnations," he said eagerly. "There never is more than one. I mean, Monsieur, that there is never more than one of the same color. You see?"

He seemed almost on the verge of tears, and he leaned farther forward over the little table between us, which still held the remains of my breakfast.

"There was only one bunch of white carnations," he said eagerly. "There never is more than one. I mean, Monsieur, that there is never more than one of the same color. You see?"

I looked searchingly at the man who pretended to be so helplessly lovelorn. His emotion, which, if genuine, might have been pathetic or grotesque, had a quality which made it merely repulsive.

I declined, in fact, that he was shamming, and that I was dealing with a thoroughly disagreeable brute, enacting for some purpose unknown, the role of a man of sentiment. I remembered, for one thing, that on the previous evening he had been in the company of one "Didi," to whose charms he had not, to tell the least, seemed wholly indifferent. I thought well to remind him of the fact.

"Well, Sir," I said, "naturally I do not wish to intrude upon sentiments of so intimate a character. If the handkerchief means so much to you, I suppose I must take steps to have it restored. But—"

I paused, and his ugly face, which had lit up with eager anticipation at my opening words, changed as swiftly as if it had been struck.

"Well," he said, his voice harsh and out of all control.

"There was another lady seated at your table last night," I continued sharply. "With whom you seemed to be on very excellent terms; that is all."

"That girl," stammered the man, "she knows all about it. I assure you. She, you see, is my sister."

Now I knew that he was lying, and I was not in the least inclined to grant his request for the handkerchief. I was more than ever sure that the motive he alleged for its recovery was false, and I was beginning to find the whole affair suspicious, though I had not the least idea what it was I suspected.

"How do you know I was staying here?" I asked him suddenly.

He shifted his head again, bringing his other eye into play.

"I followed you home," he confessed, obviously afraid that I might take it ill. "I would have spoken to you last night but you were walking with a companion."

"I don't like being followed," I said sharply. "And I'm beginning to think that this conversation has lasted long enough."

"Leave me your address, and I'll see what I can do about it," I replied with an air of dismissal.

in the Kurasa—from a dancing girl."

"Well?" I queried.

"Have you got it with you still?" The man was getting on my nerves.

"I beg your pardon," I said, "but what business is it of yours?"

"I am very anxious to obtain it," he said eagerly. "It is nothing to you. I ask you as a favor to give it to me."

He leaned forward as he spoke, and the one eye fixed directly upon me shone with excitement.

"Why do you want it?" I inquired.

"I thought it was now my turn to ask some questions."

"They were not meant for you," he replied, falsetto and voluble. "You are American. You do not understand our

As Philip Veritren, with the hostess of the night club escorting him, approached our table, I saw him cast a quick look in our direction, evidently the first time he had seen us, and then he halted and said something to an underling to the woman who was bent upon securing an advantageous place for him. His remark was inaudible, but his voice, high-pitched, a bit strident, reached us:

"Oh, how lovely that they're friends! I won't have to worry a bit more about you."

There was another inaudible murmur, a courtly bow, and the woman sailed away, while Mr. Veritren came up to our table with the air of a man assured of a welcome. Dicky rose promptly to meet him, and I never have been prouder of my husband than at that minute.

I knew that he was deeply resentful of the other man's presence, but no one from his manner could have guessed that it was any other than an old and honored friend whom he was welcoming.

"May I cast myself upon your charity?" Mr. Veritren was saying, a bit lamely, and then, after he had greeted Lillian and me elaborately, and seated himself, he struck the same pseudo humble note.

"It is so good of you to let me join you," he said, "although I feel like a gross intruder."

Philip's disbelieved the words, betrayed that he felt he was bestowing a favor upon us by attaching himself to our party, and suddenly I felt myself hotly resentful at what I usually deemed his insufferable air of condescension, but which in reality was not even an assumption of the manner which I was always his, which had become as much a part of him as the color of his eyes.

"Where Philip Veritren sat, there was the head of the table," was his paraphrase of the historic old saying, but I told myself grimly that I did not care at all for his present adaptation of it.

For, from the minute he joined us, he dominated us. He was in one of his most brilliant moods, and even Lillian, always an adept dancer with words, breathed her rapier and permitted the famous theatrical producer almost a monologue.

I ventured no word at all, but I was thrillingly conscious of two things. One was the fact that Philip Veritren had noted, as had Dicky earlier in the evening, that we were seated in the same place, and that we were seated in the same place, and that we were seated in the same place.

"The Masked Dancer III."

Quicksands of Love

Gossip and Guesses in the World of Sport
By Pat Murphy

AFTER Judge Landis is through with his investigation of the charges against the players, it will be up to the powers that be to organize baseball to some big bills. The expenses of the players summoned to testify in the hearing which opened Wednesday are expected to amount to at least $20,000. Some of the players were forced to travel as far as 2,000 miles to attend the hearing. The players themselves promised expenses and "fair compensation" to make the trip from their farm near Rochester, Minn.

UNDER Gov. Al Smith's new reorganization plan, the secretary of state takes over the duties of the lieutenant governor and the racing commission. The present secretary of state, and the fact to be elected as the new plan gives the appointment of this state officer to the governor, is a woman, Mrs. Florence E. Knapp. Mrs. Knapp is said to be a broadminded woman and there is no fear that the boy for jobs will suffer under her temporary control. She succeeds Billy Muldoon, et al., who have done a good deal to place him in America on a high plane in addition to making some silly decisions. Taken all in all, the control of being by the state commission for New York City has been a wonderful thing for the game.

The word "lobogran" is a corruption of the Canadian Indian word for sled.

NOW comes Billy Muldoon, until the other day a member of the New York State racing commission, to the defense of the modern boxers. Billy is 31 years old, and still is considered an authority on sports matters. In his youth he was a famous wrestler, and at one time acted as trainer for John L. Sullivan. Billy Muldoon, et al., present day fighters, would not stand for the type of bouts that were the custom several years ago. They used to fight around for four or five rounds without a blow being struck. Nowadays they would demand that the fighters be tossed out of the ring.

Continuing in the auditorium expressed the opinion that James Joseph Tunney has more worthy opposition than had any previous heavyweight champion. Billy thinks that Jack Sharkey, Jimmy Maloney, Jack Delaney and several others of the present day fighters could have beaten the best of the old-timers under present ring rules.

In the early '90s few of the National League baseball clubs carried more than 11 players on the salary list.

ALL the scandals which have been brought to light since the close of the baseball season do not seem to have had any appreciable effect on the ardor of Pittsburgh fans. Sam Walters, secretary of the Pirates, announced some days ago that all the boxes at Forbes field had been sold for the 1927 season, and that he was forced to turn down applications.

Work has been resumed at Brown University this winter after a lapse of some years.

ANOTHER star has deserted the ranks of the slum pokes. Ralph "Moon" Baker, Northwestern University quarterback and basketball star, started his professional career this season with the Burr A. C. team of Rockford, Ill. He intends to continue his studies at Northwestern. Baker, Tuesday probably saved the life of Althea Levere, 8, who had fallen from a pier into Lake Michigan.

The girl was clinging to the pier when Baker, leaving a fraternity house nearby, heard her cries and carried her to the shore.

BRITISH boxers have declared their determination to bring home a championship of some kind this year. The loss of public prestige has got them behind the hides of both boxers and promoters, and they have had their heads together trying to dope out some way to get back world—or, at least, continental honors. Of course, the title now held by Gene Tunney would be preferred above all others.

England is now enjoying an unprecedented boxing revival. Fights are being held in London almost every night and often in the afternoon. Other English cities are experiencing the same revival, and promoters have passed the word along that unless England wants to be last night of entirely in a pugilistic sense, the boxers must be on their toes every minute.

Harding High to Play Lima Central Here Friday

MANY COUNTY CAGE GAMES FRIDAY

Local Basketball Team Prepares for First Game With High School Outfit

Long Drills and Workouts on Program This Week as Coach Compton Rounds His Proteges into Form for Initial High School Clash of Season

BY EDDIE SCHENKER
Sports Editor, The Star

COACH Baldy Compton's Harding High basketball proteges will open the season in earnest Friday night when they take on the last Lima Central outfit in the Star Auditorium.

The high school lads have been out through some hard practice sessions this week in preparation for the battle and will be in the best of form to meet the Lima Central team in the Star Auditorium. The game Friday will be the first with an out-of-town high school team for Harding this season.

Coach Compton began work on basketball more than a month ago with only three second stringers from last year to form any kind of a nucleus for a winning outfit. In the first game of the season with the Faculty on Dec. 17, the high school five displayed extraordinary ability for a crew of green hands. They defeated the Faculty 41 to 17.

Become Excited
The real test, however, came last Wednesday night when the high school basketballers faced an all-star Alumni team 18 to 16. The boys again showed splendid pass work and great skill in dropping the ball through the bucket until the last few minutes, when they became excited as the Alumni gradually crept up on them until the score was a tie.

It was in the last few minutes of that contest that the locals displayed signs of anxiety which would probably have not affected their playing had they been seasoned veterans. However, after one dose under fire, it is probable that a close game will not worry the Harding High crew greatly in the future.

BASEBALL STARS NOT DOWNCAST; ENJOY MEETING

Turn Scandal Catherine Into Homecoming Event at Chicago

BY GENE HOFFMAN
Chicago, Jan. 6.—If the famous baseball luminaries attending Commissioner Landis' special invitation affair in his chambers here are downcast over the charges brought against them by Charles "Swede" Risberg, there was nothing in their demeanor or conversation to indicate the fact.

It was more like a homecoming celebration of old grads than a group of famous ball players whose brilliant records of achievement on the diamond threaten to be wiped out by the suspicion of scandal. The famous old boys, "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," would not have sounded out of place, considering the happy mood of the accused. Even the great Ty Cobb, who has considerable more to worry about than the new list of men placed on a cloud by the tales of Risberg, managed to be quite jovial. In fact, Ty was the life of the party.

Ty Greets Eddie
The Georgia cracker was standing in a group of old friends and admirers when Eddie Collins walked up and slapped him on the back.

"Well, well, if it isn't old Eddie Collins," said Cobb grinning broadly.

"Glad to see you, Eddie. Welcome to the fold, old kid. Our membership is getting to be quite exclusive."

There is considerable sympathy among ball players and fans hereabouts for young Buck Weaver, who is threatened to be wiped out by the great measure he was the victim of circumstances, combined with the indiscretion but not dishonest follies of extreme youth. Buck was very young when the world series scandal carried him into a baseball oblivion. He is fighting for reinstatement.

Little Seclusions
There was little serious discussion among the assembled players. They seemed certain that no fair-minded judge and public would accept the word of a discredited player against the word of a crowd of his big league friends. The banter continued throughout the session. A few caused an uproar when he asked aloud:

"I wonder who's milking the cows while Risberg is away?"

HILL AND STIEF TEAMS TIE FOR LEAGUE TITLE

To Play Deciding Game Next Wednesday: Hill Defeats Snare

The title in the Marion Business Men's Volleyball League will be decided next Wednesday night when H. K. Hill's team will face Bob Stief's outfit for the second time this season.

This announcement was made today by Physical Director F. O. Rudolph of the Y. M. C. A., following the close of the league last night with Hill and Stief in a tie for first place.

Hill's volleyballers retained a hold on first place last night when they defeated Russell Snare's crew 25 to 21 in the hottest battle of the season. The victory marked the sixth win of the season for the team.

Stief and his men had little trouble in downing Roy Wadell's outfit, 26 to 12, holding a place at the front of the league.

Murphy defeated Patton, 15 to 11, for the first and last victory of the season and lastly stepped into second place in the league standing by handling Powell 26 to 24 defeat. Powell and Wadell, tied for fourth place, will play off the tie next Wednesday night.

The annual indoor dinner of the Business Men will also be held next Wednesday night, following the championship round.

LINEUP NOT NAMED
No starting lineup has yet been named. Garrett and Gillis may start at forward while there is also a likely chance of Evans taking the floor before the initial whistle. Joe Rinser will without a doubt fill the pivot position. McAndrew and Shultz are the likely guards to start the contest while Born and Crum will probably get a crack at Lima before the game ends.

Following the Lima game, Harding High, the next week, will journey to Mansfield to pry the lid off the North Central Ohio League schedule.

Bill Leading Pilot Three States Clean Boley Has Ability

By NORMAN E. BROWN

BILL CARRIGAN, on his return to the ranks of the big league managers, proceeds to step into the lead as a world's series pilot. For when William the Ready lead baseball he carried with him the record of having won the only two series into which he led the Red Sox. And he is the only manager who has ever won that many without dropping one or more.

Jimmy Collins, Jake Stahl, and Ed Barrow once won one series, for the Boston team—the only series in which each participated—and therefore have the record of three series. Looking over the records of the pilots of other teams, Fielder Jones, Paul Rowland, George Stallings, Trip Speaker, Bill McKechnie, and Rogers Hornsby have each been triumphant in the only series in which they figured. These are the only men never to suffer a series defeat.

John McGraw, longest reigning winner in the game's history, has broken into nine, but has been socked in six of them. Connie Mack, in the top series he has been a party to, has come out victor three times.

Frank Chance, Fred Clarke, Pat Moran, Stanley Harris, Miller Huggins, Fred Mitchell, Kid Gleason, Wilbert Robinson and Uggie Jennings are the other managers to break into the fall classic one or more times. Jennings, incidentally, suffered the hardship of being defeated in all three world's series in which his team of Tigers played.

Some of the fans who watched Joe Boley in action during the years the new Athletic shorstop was winning time with Baltimore, say that his league fans will be a bit disappointed when they first see him in action.

This because of the fact that Boley carries nothing of the spectacular in his play. He covers his territory in an easy, graceful sort of fashion that betrays his ability and agility. He is a naturally graceful and the graceful fielder never gets the credit due him, because of his grace, which makes his work appear easy.

Nevertheless this Boley must be a higher score infielder. Connie parted with $50,000 and three ball players to get him. And Connie never loses his head over a ball player.

ANOTHER CHAMP ARRIVES
New York, Jan. 6.—Tom Hoener, heavyweight champion of New Zealand and South Africa, has arrived here on the Cunard liner Benicaria with his trainer, John Mortimer. The boxer's weight of 198 pounds, is 5 feet 10½ inches tall and is 28.

JACK IS 25
Jack Sharkey, the Boston heavyweight, who hopes to meet Gene Tunney for the world's title before the end of 1927, is 25 years old and a native of Binghamton, N. Y. He is of Lithuanian parentage and his real name is Josef Paul Cukeschay.

GRID STARS SHINE ON COURT

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 6.—It makes no difference to some athletes what the form of sport in which they indulge. For example, take the case of Vic Hanson and Whipper Carr, two transcendent all-around performers for the Syracuse University football eleven.

Although they are well known to all followers of the gridiron sport, where each has carved a big name for himself in the last three years performing for Syracuse, they are equally adept at basketball, and have been the main factors in the wonderful record that has been compiled by Syracuse University court quints for the past two years.

Among some of the stragglers that were forced to walk the plank last year were Pennsylvania, Army, Princeton, Colgate, Rochester, New York University, Michigan, Duquesne, and many others of like caliber.

STANDING
Murphy 15, Patton 11, Isaly 26, Powell 21, Stief 30, Wadell 12, Hill 25, Snare 24.

CALLAHAN PREPARING
Chicago, Jan. 6.—Shuffle Callahan, Chicago Heights slugging truck driver, who has acquired considerable fame as a knockout artist, has entered serious training for his "grudge" fight against Walecott Langford, local negro middleweight, scheduled for Jan. 14.

HERES REAL RULING
Under the rules of the British Football Association a professional player cannot be compelled by his club to play on Good Friday, or Christmas Day. Few players, however, take advantage of the rule by declining to play on those days, especially as Christmas is usually one of the banner days of the season.

DONKS WAVE MARK
Each of the dogs participating in the Eastern International Dog-Sled Derby at Quebec has a small white circle, the size of a half-dollar, painted on its forehead. This is required by the committee in charge to make sure that only dogs that have been regularly entered can take part in the famous race.

HOCKEY GOING GREAT
Hockey is having a banner season in both the United States and Canada and lovers of the sport are looking forward to a spectacular finish in the battle for championships. Heretofore hockey titles have been one of the few things that Americans could get nervous about. The Canadian border is seething of and not being lack. Whether the 1926-27 season will carry a different tale remains to be seen.

WALKER TO PREPARE
Go to California For Houts This Winter

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion of the world, has today enroute to California where he will fight several battles in preparation for the opening of the outdoor season in the East and middle West.

Mickey expects to be a busy champion this summer and expressed himself as anxious to keep in the best possible condition.

While in California, he will meet some other, Leo Lonski, one of the best middleweights on the Pacific slope.

Movin On

Harvey Hendrick, purchased by the Brooklyn Dodgers from the New Orleans club of the Southern Association at the close of last season, has two chances to come through as a regular for Manager Robinson.

Hendrick was playing first for the Southerners when purchased, but Uncle Robbie then had in mind using him as an outfielder. Within the last few weeks he has parted with both Zack Wheat, outfielder, and Jack Townier, first baseman.

Now Hendrick is in line for either job, filling in where he'll fit best.

Hendrick's career is a bit unusual. When Memphis gave him his first real tryout, played with Chattanooga in 1921, was drafted by Red Sox in 1922 and released to Cincinnati. Recalled in full and traded to Yankees. Was shipped to Cleveland in 1925 and farmed to Providence. Sold to New Orleans last June.

EAST SIDE AGES DEFEAT HUBER QUINTET, 32-15

Fetter, Strine and Flanagan Star in Battle Staged in Auditorium

Marion East Side Aces romped to victory over Huber's last night in the Star Auditorium, taking the game to 32 to 15. The Aces took the lead early in the fray and were never seriously threatened.

Fetter started for the Aces, ending two field goals and a free throw for 11 points. Strine and Flanagan were the bright lights for the Huber Co.

SUMMARY
Aces 32, Huber 15.

Huber, 15; Flanagan, 10; Strine, 10; Fetter, 11; Flanagan, 10; Strine, 10; Fetter, 11.

JOEY SANGOR FORCED TO CALL OFF LENARD MATCH
Chicago, Jan. 6.—Joey Sangor, the clever Milwaukee featherweight, will not engage in his scheduled round bout with Elmer Lenard at White City on Monday night, it was announced today. Local boxing commission physician examined Sangor's injured nose and reported he is unfit to be batted. An opponent for Lenard, to sub for Joey, has not yet been named by Promoter Gailson.

GREEN CAMP TO OPPOSE AGOSTA CALEDONIA IDE

Only Two Teams in County Will Not Play League Games

With the exception of Caledonia and LaBree, every county high school football team is booked to play in league games, Friday night.

The great fight in the county Friday night center at Green Camp in the west section. Green Camp boys will meet Agosta boys in a battle that promises to be one of the hardest fought in the league this season. Both teams are lodged in first place in the league standing, each having won one game and suffered no defeats.

Green Camp will have an edge on the Agosta crew by playing on its home floor. According to the "dope," Green Camp should win the game. Agosta has defeated Moral and Green Camp has defeated Prospect. It is generally held among county school circles that Prospect has out of the best team in this vicinity and the severe drubbing handed them last week by Green Camp has not made a great hit with other county teams. Green Camp is now considered one of the best.

Moral at Prospect
The other game in the West League Friday night will be staged at Prospect where Moral will meet the boys and girls of that village. Prospect is hoped as a winner but may be surprised.

Caledonia, the leading team of the east league has no game scheduled and Moral, in second place, has a chance to step into a tie for first place by defeating Kirkpatrick Friday night. Moral has won one game and suffered no defeat while Caledonia has played in two games and come out on top in each skirmish.

Caledonia has defeated Kirkpatrick and the corresponding strength of the two leading teams may be gathered by the result of the Kirk-Moral game.

Kirk and Claridon
Kirkpatrick girls will play Claridon girls on the Kirkpatrick court Friday night. The Kirkpatrick girls have yet to be defeated this season. Caledonia girls are perched on top of the league standing with two victories and no defeat. They do not play this week.

Waldo boys and girls will journey to Pleasant Township to try their hand in a third league game, after being defeated on their home ground.

More Interest
With the holiday season over, interest in the league games is beginning to wane in the county and rivalry is almost cropping out around the corners.

Here's how they stand in the west leagues after games last week:

Boys
Team W. L. Pct.
Latite 1 0 1.000
Agosta 1 0 1.000
Green Camp 1 0 1.000
Prospect 0 1 .000

American Express Wins Three From Business Women Representatives

Gas Co. bowlers and Displaymen last night in the Y. A. Industrial League matches. The three consecutive games, which featured Marion County Lumber Co. and Displaymen downed American Express bowlers.

The Marion County Lumber Co. bowlers last night while Weir was 122 pins with Logans, bowling 238 in the final game. Drumm's 200 mark in the final game and Porter's score of 170 led the Anthony team.

American Express bowlers won three from the representatives of the Marion Business Women's Club last night. Porter bowled 158 for the women in the first game and Myers was high for the Express team with 185 pins.

The regular bowling session of the Marion Business Women's Club was held last night, previous to the Industrial League games. Hammer and her volunteers took two from Oberlander's team. Porter won two from Blum, and Sautter and Slagle split their bill. Slagle's score was the highest of the three matches. She bowled 141 in the first game.

ROBERT McALLISTER

CAN'T KEEP A GOOD MAN DOWN

IS PLANNING A COMEBACK

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

Nominating BOB McALLISTER.

National 100-yard sprint champion of 1922, Policeman extraordinary of New York City, and all around athlete.

Because he became a champion sprinter within a year after entering the game as a novice, back in 1921.

Because he set a world's record for the 100-meter in indoor competition in 1924.

Because he is now training for a comeback, under Jake Webber, famous track coach.

And because his return and probable appearance against such men as Murchison, Scholz, Locke and others will add to the gaiety of atletics over the winter months.

CALEDONIA HIGH SCHOOL

TO PLAY ALUMNI FRIDAY

Alumni Boys Are Rated As

Strongest Team In

Years

The Caledonia High School eag-ers are being whipped into shape for their annual affair with the Alumni squad, Friday night.

The Alumni boys, especially, according to advance dope, are exceptionally strong and are composed of those who have played together for the last eight years. Many members of the championship team of 1923 will be on the squad. The Alumni men are given the edge on the high school boys.

The Blue and White girls suffered a heavy loss during the past week when their center, Freda Holland, underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is out for the rest of the season. Thelma Baird, Cleo Pink and Hazel Baird are fighting for the center position now.

Coch Broholm predicts a crowd that will fill the hall for this week's game, and it appears that the receipts this week will be even greater than those of the Kirkpatrick game, which broke all previous records.

P. F. Carr Again Prisoner of Morrow County Sheriff Following Order of Court

Verdict of Common Pleas Jury Approved By Court of Appeals; Alleged Accomplices of Ft. Wayne Man in Land Defraud Case Under Bond

St. Giles, Jan. 6.—P. F. Carr, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., is once again a prisoner in the Morrow county jail, having been taken there by Sheriff Leaslie Tischer, following orders of the court. He has been in custody since early summer under $5,000 bond, while the cases against him were being heard in the court of common pleas and the court of appeals.

GALION SELECTED FOR LEAGUE TOURNAMENT

Junior High Gymnasium To Be Scene of Independent Loop Battles

Galion, Jan. 6.—Athletic managers and coaches of schools in the Crawford County Basketball League have chosen Galion as the place best suited to the playing of the annual county basketball tournament which will be held some time in February. The exact dates have not yet been decided but the league are planning much for the event.

The Junior high school will be the scene of the battle to determine championship of the consolidated schools of this district and large crowds of fans are expected to accompany the teams.

St. Zions, Tipton, Wheelersburg, North Robinson and Chaffeeville will represent teams and the records of games already played between league schools show that some real basketball will be seen on the local floor during the several days of playing.

Although the basketball from the local school will have no part in the action and include none of the participating schools on their schedule, sport lovers in Galion are arranging to attend some of the games and see what athletes are doing for smaller communities.

MORROW COUNTY FAIR BOARD HOLDS MEETING

New Officers Installed and Reports of 1926 Exposition Approved

St. Giles, Jan. 6.—The Morrow County Fair board met yesterday afternoon in the committee's office to elect members. William Chilcote, who is the newly elected member who succeeded William Turner who was obliged to resign his position because of his taking the commissioner's oath.

The officers are: Dan Spies, president; Burr Orr, vice president; E. L. Wilson, secretary, and Clay Spies, treasurer.

Look at My Hair

Countless women ask me how I developed such a marvelous head of hair. It is thick, silky, lustrous. Every year it becomes more luxuriant.

My hair has never had falling hair or dandruff and never a touch of gray.

I owe that hair to the genius of French hairdresser, Edna Wallace Harper.

My hair Youth is concentrated. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it instantly combats the hardened oil and dandruff which stifle the hair roots.

It tones and stimulates the scalp. My glorious hair is the simple result of that daily application. For years and years it has brought like results to my beautiful friends on the stage.

Every girl and woman owes herself a knowledge of Hair Youth. If you watch its effects for a day or two you will never get without it. And it may add to you or keep for you a priceless beauty item.

The coupon will bring a sample bottle, an eyedropper and my Beauty Book. Mail it to me for your hair's sake. Clip it now.

TODAY IN NORTH CENTRAL OHIO

SOCIETY MEETS

Organization Contributes to Undernourished Children's Milk Fund

Richwood, Jan. 6.—The Baptist Ladies Aid Society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. A. Keigley, with group one as hostesses. This was the first meeting of the year and was largely attended. Rev. Robert Pierce had charge of the devotionals and Mrs. C. E. Cox had charge of prayer. Those who attended included the following members: Mrs. Robert Pierce, a piano solo; recitations, Addaline Glassmeyer and Helen Keigley; Mrs. S. R. Sanders, paper, "The Challenge of the New Year"; an original poem, Mrs. O. A. Keigley.

During the business meeting it was voted to donate $5.00 toward the milk fund for the undernourished school children.

GALION ORGANIZATIONS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

Knight of Pythias and C. A. R. Post Hold Impressive Ceremonies

Galion, Jan. 6.—Two prominent organizations of the city installed officers for the year at recent meetings. The members of the Knights of Pythias, meeting in regular session in Castle Hall installed Ira Williams as chancellor commander and an efficient staff of minor officers to assist in keeping up the high standard of work accomplished during the year.

John Rhoades is vice-commander, E. A. Morrison, record keeper; J. Lew Gager, master of finance; J. Earl Casey, master of exercises; P. L. Feeter, master of work; George Armstrong, master of arms; O. Woodworth, reporter, and M. Feigley, Homer Longstrech, guard.

John J. Boyer assumed his position as post commander of Dick Morris Post G. A. R. at impressive installation exercises which were conducted by Rev. D. B. Shuey. Other officers included: Philip Metzger, senior vice-commander; John English, junior vice-commander; D. B. Shuey, adjutant; James Jourdan, D. B. Shuey, quartermaster; Joseph King, chaplain; Henry Sullivan, officer of the day; John Dine, officer of the guard; W. S. Topping, quartermaster sergeant.

This organization which has for many years been a credit to Galion's progress as a military organization, is still carrying on the work of the order although each year the roll becomes smaller.

From the flourishing post of a comparatively few years ago the numbers have diminished until only twenty members now remain.

MURDER OF GIRL IS SOLVED WHEN MAN CONFESSES

The brutal assault and murder of Reuben Purvis, 19, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., is believed solved by the reported statement of Joseph Carr, 23, to Assistant Prosecutor Carl Basler, of Hamilton county.

The body of Miss Purvis was found battered and bruised on the bank of the Big Miami river near Valley Junction, O., last October 20, just 10 days after she disappeared from home. Carr made his statement to Marshal Andrew Wagner, of Lucknow, O., while the latter was questioning him regarding a burglary. Wagner turned him over to the assistant prosecutor.

The Wilbards have won four consecutive games and have yet to suffer a defeat this season. Central Juniors have had hard luck in two overtime games but have won one skirmish. A win Friday night would bring their average to the .500 mark.

Ed Hachten and N. Joffit will probably start as favorites for the Wildcats. M. Travis will play center, and L. Krisher and C. Perry will fill the guard posts. Central Juniors' lineup will likely consist of Wilhelm and Joffit, forwards; McDaniel, center; Carter and Klingbe, guards.

Others likely to see action with the Wilbards are Lowe, Bailey, Tedl and Koller.

WESLEYAN HOPES TO HIT STRIDE IN RESERVE GAME

Get Long Drills After Holidays; Prepare for Saturday's Tilt

Delaware, O., Jan. 6.—Although the team lost two of its three Christmas trip games, Coach Ray Dietrich is confident his Ohio Wesleyan basketball team will hit their stride before the Ohio conference season opens Saturday when the Bishop's meet Western Reserve at Cleveland.

The Bishop dribblers had a long drill against the freshmen Tuesday night, the first they have practiced since their Christmas tour. All of Dietrich's men saw action in the scrimmage.

Dietrich's aim in taking the holiday trip was more to get a line on his men's ability rather than to defeat opposing teams, he pointed out Wednesday. For this reason he used all of his first-stringers in each of the three contests.

Wesleyan is to play another pre-conference season game against Bliss college at Columbus Thursday night. The Methodist outfit will meet its first Buckeye Athletic association opponent until next Saturday night, Jan. 15, when it takes on Ohio university at Athens.

WILDCATS WILL BATTLE CENTRAL JUNIORS FRIDAY

Hard Fought Tilt Expected When Two Local Outfits Meet

The Wilbards and Central Junior High basketballs will battle Friday night on the Y. M. C. A. gym. floor. The game will be called at 7 o'clock in order to allow all who take part in the contest and witness the fray to attend the Harding High-Luna Central game in the Star Auditorium.

The Wilbards have won four consecutive games and have yet to suffer a defeat this season. Central Juniors have had hard luck in two overtime games but have won one skirmish. A win Friday night would bring their average to the .500 mark.

Ed Hachten and N. Joffit will probably start as favorites for the Wildcats. M. Travis will play center, and L. Krisher and C. Perry will fill the guard posts. Central Juniors' lineup will likely consist of Wilhelm and Joffit, forwards; McDaniel, center; Carter and Klingbe, guards.

Others likely to see action with the Wilbards are Lowe, Bailey, Tedl and Koller.

CAMPAIGN MEET

Franklin Township Farm Bureau Ready for Membership Drive

Mr. Giles, Jan. 6.—Franklin Township held a Farm Bureau campaign meeting Tuesday night, entertaining the thirty members present with a short program of recitations and music. The township campaign manager appointed his captains who will supervise the signing of members. Nearly all of last year's members have renewed their membership contracts and are ready to help push the drive across. This township announces that it will be fully prepared to assume the responsibility of the campaign by next Saturday.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Horatio Markley, one mile north of Cheshireville. The date for this meeting has not been decided.

MARYSVILLE IS TWICE VICTOR OVER RICHWOOD

Relations between Two Schools Renewed After Lapse of Two Years

Marysville, Jan. 6.—Marysville High School won both ends of a double basketball bill with Richwood High School last night at the local armory. These were the first games played between teams from the two schools for a period of two years, athletic relations having been broken as the result of a football game played on Thanksgiving Day of 1925.

The local girls' team came out on top with a 41 to 3 score in the preliminary game, which proved uninteresting to the fans. Southard and Poling starred for Marysville, the former scoring 11 baskets and the latter taking 7 baskets and one free throw. McElbreen and Cramer played well for the victors each making a goal.

The boys' game was also a lopsided affair which the locals winning, with a 33 to 10 victory. Coach Kinsman substituted all of his second and third stringers in the final quarter but the visitors derived little benefit from the change. The half ended 14 to 4 in favor of the locals and the score stood 29 to 6 at the time the substitutions were made.

The Richwood guards were no match for the Marysville forwards and the latter showed up the best of any team during the season. Nicol was high scorer and took four baskets and three throws to his credit. Bump followed with three baskets and Schneider, Mackan and Mader, center, came next with two each.

Although numerous fouls were called on both teams by Referee Martin, all were unintentional and every indication was that the ill feeling between the two schools had blown over.

MARYSVILLE COUNCILMEN REORGANIZE FOR YEAR

Edgar E. Holycross Elected President Pro Tem; Committees Named

Marysville, Jan. 6.—Marysville councilmen elected Edgar E. Holycross as president pro tem of the council at the annual reorganization meeting held in the council chamber. The sinking fund trustees also reorganized electing A. F. Robinson president; H. C. Bollinger, clerk; and D. R. Griffith, treasurer.

The council voted to change rate 11 pertaining to the purchasing of supplies for the village to read as follows: "All supplies ordered must be accompanied by a written order signed by the chairman of the committee and certified by the village clerk and it is desired that bills be presented within thirty days."

The following committees were announced for the coming year by Mayor A. L. Deane:

Finance: L. A. Holycross, chairman; and Chris Mader and W. F. Morry.

Street: C. O. Herd, chairman; E. A. Holycross and W. F. Morry.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEVINS

It was a very cold morning when I opened the door to let Jubilee in. He was shivering like a leaf, but when he saw he couldn't catch her he stopped playing. A girl can do anything and get away with it.

When we got outside we rolled a big snowball till we got it to the top of the hill, and by that time it was as high as my head, and Banty said if we would make a hole in it he would crawl in and let us roll him down the middle of it, and he put his arms down at his side and pushed him in head first, and it was so big he didn't stick out, so we gave it a push so it would go over the jump and bust, but when it hit the jump it went over it and didn't bust or stop till it got to the pond, and we had to go down and pull him out. He said it was great, so we tried to roll it back up the hill so some of us could try it, but it got so big we had to leave it and go to school.

Annabelle Lee sneaked herself up with my aunt's lipstick and then cried because it wasn't candy and my mother looked at her and thought she was bleeding to death, and when I got home she was mad at my aunt for leaving it where she could get it, and my aunt was mad at her for getting it where she left it. I did not get blamed.

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Uncle Wiggily was a little bird of wood, and she was dark blue. But she never felt blue. She was the most happy little bird you ever saw imagine until she lost her tail, and then—

But there I had better tell the story from the beginning so there will be no mistakes.

Daddy had with her sister and sister Wiggily, the Bungleump, and they were the winter, had been away from the cards from Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. In the same little house, which was named Bungleump, lived Boppy, a little wooden man, and Um, a little wooden lady. They were the daddy and mother of the Wiggilies.

The Wiggilies were very queer and odd. Their bodies were made of two shaped pieces of wood, fastened together with a wooden pin. Another wooden pin made a neck and on this sat the wooden head of a Wiggily. The head could turn all the way around, as the owl bird sometimes does to make his head turn. Only the Wiggily can't do it.

Uncle had four wooden legs, but she could use her front pair almost like hands, and she was quite clever. And she had a little wooden tail, very odd and pretty.

One day just as Uncle Wiggily was sitting out from his hollow stump bungalow to go look for an adventure, he heard some one crying under the plum tree. Of course there were no plum trees on the bush in winter, and no leaves, and it did not take the little gentleman long to look through the bare bush and see dark blue Dazie Wiggily there.

What's the matter, Dazie? asked the Wiggily uncle.

Oh, loss is the matter," sobbed the Wiggily girl. "A whole house and I'm a matter. I—I've lost my tail—gone!"

Lost your tail? asked Uncle Wiggily. "That's too bad. But it's not quite so bad as Little Bo Peep, for she's lost sheep. I'll help you look for your tail, Dazie. Where did you lose it?"

I don't know," sobbed Dazie. And Uncle Wiggily, remembering that she was made of wood, was not at all surprised at hearing that she had lost her tail. He would have been had Jackie Bow, the dog, said his tail was gone.

"You didn't drop your tail," asked Uncle Wiggily, "how did you lose it?"

I don't know," sobbed the Wiggily girl.

Dame Louis Aldrich-Blake, who died not long ago in London, was generally considered to be the foremost woman surgeon in the world. So competent and reliable was she rated in her own profession that one of England's greatest surgeons once said he would choose her if he ever had to undergo an operation himself.

JUSTICE SEEGER SELECTED TO HEAR BROWNING'S SUIT

Justice Albert H. F. Seeger of New York, N. Y., will hear the testimony in the suit of Edward W. Browning for separation from his young wife, "Peaches" Herman Browning, when the hearing opens Jan. 24, at Carmel, N. Y. Justice Joseph M. Schaefer of Poughkeepsie, who was to have heard the suit, will preside elsewhere.

Signs of the utmost brightness. One firm alone, Morris Motors, has secured a single contract for $150,000 from Australia. The firm building luxury cars have been deluged with orders since the coal strike ended.

Outlook Is Brighter. Lancashire's outlook is brighter today than for years. Cotton mill owners have the prospect of earning $70,000,000 a year more by increased working hours, and employers stand to benefit by an equal amount.

With cotton now likely to remain at somewhere in the region of 18 cents per pound, one firm alone in Manchester expects to save $5,000,000 a week in the 24th day of January 1927, at a yearly turnover of $20,000,000. This means that Lancashire will be able to supply cotton goods at a price which will enable it to compete with the United States.

Britain has gone through one of the worst years in the country's history. But now the sun seems about to shine again, although it will take years to get rid of the after-effects of the troubles of 1926.

CALL LOAN RATES IN SHARP DECLINE TODAY

Hit 4 1/4 Per Cent. Loebel: Reactionary Movement in Stock Prices Reappears

Railroad stocks inactive; industrial stocks irregular; domestic bonds steady; foreign bonds strong; call money 4 1/4 per cent; grain steady; copper fairly steady; oil irregular; cotton steady; rubber steady; sugar firm; pig iron firm; foreign exchange irregular.

New York, Jan. 6.—Evidence of an easier money situation, which was furnished today with the decline of call loan rates to 4 1/4 per cent, was not sufficient to prevent the reappearance of the reactionary movement of stock prices.

The trend of the market was downward from the start, with only a few of the speculative favorites, with strong pool backing, able to stem the tide.

Investment interest was centered in the sale of $80,000,000 of 4 1/4 per cent, sixty-day corporate stock of the city of New York to the National City bank syndicate at $102 1/8, a basis of 4 1/4 per cent. Most of the funds derived from the sale will be used for building highways which are sorely needed. The banking group will offer the bonds immediately at 4 per cent basis, or thereabouts.

Reports from the industrial and railroad companies were generally favorable, though unimportant.

The car loadings statement for the last full week in December showed an increase of 71,000 cars as compared with the same week last year. Motor car manufacturing circles were apparently as enthusiastically buoyant as ever.

Stock market movements today were devoid of meaning and represented little more than the play of forces between the professional traders on the floor of the exchange and elsewhere. The Mexican situation was magnified for all it could stand by the bears, whose offer consisted chiefly of the industrial and specialty stocks which led the Wednesday closing rally.

WOMAN SLAIN WHILE RIDING IN AUTOMOBILE

Police Holding Companion Who Declares Three Bandits Fired on Them

Cincinnati, Jan. 6.—Circumstances surrounding the murder last night of Mrs. Shirley Garton, 42, while she was riding in an automobile with Peter Brown, Hubbers, Ohio, contractor, were to be quickly investigated by police today.

Brown, being held pending further inquiry into the killing, declared to police that three bandits in another automobile stopped their car near Harwell, a suburb and that Mrs. Garton was killed by one of a fusillade of bullets fired by the bandits when he attempted to drive away.

Coroner E. C. Swing announced, however, that the bullet which pierced the back of the woman's head was fired at close range, and that powder burns in the wound and the burned collar of her coat convinced him that the fatal shot could not have been fired through the rear of the moving car.

Had Separated
Brown had stated that the bullet came through the rear of his automobile as he was "copping on the gas" to get away from the bandits. He showed police a bullet hole in the back of the car to substantiate his story.

According to John Garton, the murdered woman's husband, the two had separated about ten days ago because of domestic quarrels between Mrs. Garton and Brown.

Brown was said to have stated that Mrs. Garton's last words were "don't you dare touch me," to one of the bandits who jumped upon the running board of his machine and tried to prevent the escape.

Brown declared that the man struck him on the head with a revolver and exhibited a lacerated scalp in furtherance of that portion of his story.

Bandits Open Fire
The coroner said that as the man fell from the running board, the bandits opened fire and that at least three shots were fired.

The scene of the murder was some distance from Newtown, another suburb, where Tuesday night, Miss Isabel Kendall, pretty 22-year-old daughter, Mrs. J. H. Kendall, was taken from the machine of her escort and held in captivity for nearly two hours before she was freed by three men.

1,200 CHILDREN ADMINISTERED SCHICK TEST

Report of City Health Commissioner W. J. Weiser Submitted at Board Meeting

More than 1,200 children in Marion's public schools have been administered the Schick test, diphtheria immunization, by City Health Commissioner W. J. Weiser during the present school year.

This is indicated in Dr. Weiser's report for the nine-month period ended Jan. 1, 1927, which was submitted to the City Health Board yesterday afternoon in Mayor Hazen's office in City Hall.

Last year 2,175 children in the city schools were given the test, making a total for the two years of 3,375.

Among the diseases which came to the Weiser's attention during this period were 22 cases of typhoid and as many of tuberculosis. The list of other diseases include 12 of scarlet fever, 15 of diphtheria, two of mumps, one of smallpox, two of measles, two of enteritis and one of pneumonia.

Seven hundred and fifty school children were examined during the period, the report disclosed. Other items mentioned in the list are food handlers examined, 118; school building inspections, 20; restaurant inspections, 25; children examined for Kiwanis Health Camp, 28; children vaccinated for Kiwanis Health Camp, 28; contagious diseases investigated where reported, 45; follow-up calls among school children, 36; general investigation visits, 10.

The report was accepted and placed on file.

BEN'S LIEUTENANTS FREE UNDER $500 GROUP BOND

Charged With Aiding Prunell to Hide from Justice Four Years

Denton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 6.—Seven lieutenants of "King" Ben Prunell, arrested on charges of aiding the House of David cult leader to hide from justice for four years, were freed today on a group bond of $500.

Justice of the Peace Elizabeth Forhan set Jan. 12 as the date for their preliminary hearing.

The seven defendants include Myrtle Tulek, named by girl accusers as Prunell's chief aide in his alleged cult orgies; Annabelle Askeford, Helen Brown, Joseph Conely, Edward Wilson, Thomas Wilson and Leonard Brown.

All of these defendants were with Prunell when he was arrested in the recent sensational raid at the House of David colony and is charged they violated the law by not turning him over, as a fugitive, to state authorities.

VOCALIST TO RETURN

Miss Elsie Baker Contracts for Engagement; Chautauqua July 28-Aug. 2

Miss Elsie Baker, famous vocalist and record artist, will appear here next summer as a member of the Chautauqua course. It was decided at a meeting of members of the Chautauqua Board yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. building. It also was decided that the Chautauqua season will run from July 28 to Aug. 2.

Mr. Hall, representative of the James R. Loer Independent Chautauqua Association of Birmingham, Ill., was present at this meeting. Five members of the board were in attendance.

If you could lose your temper with our someone else finding it self-control would not be quite so important a matter.
